

PhD-MD Program

1 . About PhD-MD Program:

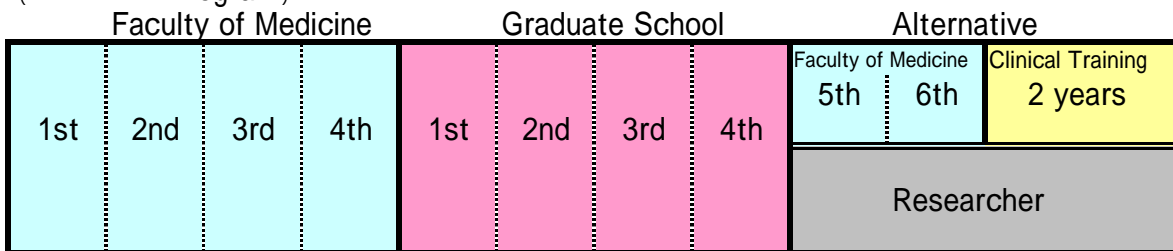

Upon finishing the first four years of the curriculum in the faculty of medicine, students may choose to enter SUMS Graduate School to acquire a Ph-D, and then either continue to work as medical researchers, or reenroll in the faculty of medicine as 5th year medical students to become clinical doctors.

In this post-graduate course, students should finish within three years. They will receive guidance by a chief advisor, a sub-advisor, and related teachers, but also extra instruction will be available to students outside their specialty. We have a "Teaching Assistants" system in our university, and post-graduate students can apply to become teaching assistants, both to receive financial benefits and to qualify as research instructors by guiding undergraduate students. We may also be able to offer some other grants and scholarships.
